DETAILED ACTION

Specification

- 1. The lengthy specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.
- 2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

  The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.
- 3. Claims 1 9 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.
- 4. The term "substantially" in claims 1 and 19 is a relative term which renders the claim indefinite. The term "substantially" is not defined by the claim, the specification does not provide a standard for ascertaining the requisite degree, and one of ordinary skill in the art would not be reasonably apprised of the scope of the invention.
- The term "limited" in claim 1 is a relative term which renders the claim indefinite.

  The term "limited" is not defined by the claim, the specification does not provide a standard for ascertaining the requisite degree, and one of ordinary skill in the art would not be reasonably apprised of the scope of the invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3629

- (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 7. Claims 1 6, 9 11, and 16 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Evans, III (US Patent 5,732,231) in view of Torres et al. (US PG Pub 2002/0004757 A1).
- 8. In regards to claim 1, 10, and 16, Evans discloses a method of providing funeral related services, comprising:

collecting information about the deceased from the family members (Column 2 Lines 59 – 63);

utilizing at least some of the information to create a first video having text describing events in the life of the deceased (Column 1 Lines 64 – 67);

However, Evans fails to disclose utilizing at least some of the information to create a second video that is substantially shorter than the first video and includes limited text describing events in the life of the deceased.

Despite of this, one skilled in the art of video creation and editing would have found it obvious to create multiple versions of a video. That is to say, it would have been obvious to first create a "rough draft" of a video and to later edit the video in response to the reviews made about the video, which would consequently change the length of the video.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention in view of the teachings of Evans to create a second video that would consequently be shorter than the first in response to the reviews made by the family members of the deceased.

However, Evans also fails to teach:

meeting with family members of the decedent during a planning session at a funeral home;

" showing the family an audio-visual work, at least the first portion of which is substantially free of product information.

Torres, however, teaches that it is old and well known to have a conference with family members of the deceased in order to talk over necessary funeral arrangements. These conferences would include various funeral products, services, and costs in order to properly inform the family members of the deceased more effectively (Page 1 ¶ 5). Although Torres does not disclose that a video presentation is used, one skilled in the art would have found it obvious and beneficial to find the most effective means to ensure that information is being conveyed properly towards their customers, whether video, diagram, pictures, or etc.

9. In regard to claims 2 - 4, and 17, the length of the video or how the video is presented does not affect how the method is carried out. Moreover, as already discussed above it would have been obvious to show a second video that would have been substantially shorter than the first. Evans discloses that a video is shown regarding the deceased within the funeral establishment (Column 1 Lines 25 – 47; Column 2 Lines 20 – 25).

10. In regards to claim 5, Evans discloses including: providing a funeral home website (Column 2 Lines 1 – 6, which would obviously have included a funeral home website); and placing at least some of the information about the deceased on the website (Column 2 Lines 1-6).

- 11. In regards to claim 6, Evans discloses wherein: the website includes an area at which individuals can enter information concerning the deceased from a remote location by utilizing a global computer network (Column 2 Lines 1 6).
- 12. In regards to claim 9, Torres discloses wherein: the audio-visual work includes information concerning the costs of packages of funeral products; and including: providing funeral-related products to the family (Page 1 ¶ 5).
- 13. In regards to claim 11, Evans discloses wherein: the display screen is positioned in the same room as a casket during visitation (Column 2 Lines 20 26).
- 14. Claims 7 8, 12 15, and 18 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Evans, III (US Patent 5,732,231) in view of Torres et al. (US PG Pub 2002/0004757 A1) and in further view of Notargiacomo et al. (US Patent 6,947,921 B2).

Art Unit: 3629

15. In regards to claim 7, the combination of Evans and Torres fails to disclose wherein: the website includes a plurality of memorials, each of which contains information concerning a single decedent, and also includes a security feature permitting only authorized personnel to gain access to the memorials to place at least some of the personal information and photographs of the deceased at the memorial on the website.

However, Notargiacomo discloses a method and system for capturing memories of deceased individuals. Notargiacomo further discloses that its online system includes a pre-authorization for selected individuals (Column 2 Lines 51 – 52). Further still, an electronic database is also included to contain information regarding various deceased as well.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the combination of Evans and Torres in view of the teachings of Notargiacomo to include pre-authorization for each deceased so that approved individuals can add/edit information regarding a specific decedent and not of another.

16. In regards to claim 8, Notargiacomo discloses wherein: the personal information and photographs of the deceased are collected at the funeral home and transmitted electronically to processing center where individuals who are not employees of the funeral home create the first and second videos (Column 6 Lines 43 – 67).

Art Unit: 3629

17. In regards to claims 12 and 18, Evans discloses that information is transmitted back and forth between the funeral establishment and a remote location (Column 1 Lines 42 – 46). However, the combination of Evans and Torres fails to disclose the use of a processing facility that is remote from the funeral home.

Notargiacomo, on the other hand, discloses a method and system for capturing memories of deceased individuals. Notargiacomo further discloses the use of a service provider to fulfill the request for goods and/or services for the viewer (Column 6 Lines 43 – 67). One skilled in the art would have found it obvious to allow the processing of such important information to professionals who are skilled in the area of video/image design. Moreover, by allowing professionals to carryout this process it would ensure that the family members of the deceased would receive the best service that the funeral home could provide.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the combination of Evans and Torres in view of the teachings of Notargiacomo to include a processing facility that is in communication with the funeral home in order to provide quality services and goods for the family members of the deceased.

- 18. In regards to claim 13, Notargiacomo discloses wherein: the visual work is transferred to a mass storage device at the funeral home (Column 1 Lines 48 53).
- 19. In regards to claim 14, Evans discloses including:

creating an internet accessible website (Column 2 Lines 1 – 6, which would obviously have included a funeral home website); providing a screen on the website to permit remote users to post information concerning the decedent on the website (Column 2 Lines 1 - 6).

Art Unit: 3629

20. In regards to claim 15, Notargiacomo discloses including:
 providing a kiosk with at least one computer connected to the internet (Column 7 Lines 3 – 28);

positioning the kiosk in the funeral home during visitation so visitors can post information concerning the decedent on the website (Column 7 Lines 3 – 28).

21. In regards to claim 19, the length of the video or how the video is presented does not affect how the method is carried out. Moreover, as already discussed above it would have been obvious to show a first video that would have been substantially shorter than the second and vice-versa. Evans discloses that a video is shown regarding the deceased within the funeral establishment (Column 1 Lines 25 – 47; Column 2 Lines 20 – 25).

electronically transmitting the second visual work from the processing facility to the funeral home (Column 1 Lines 42 – 46);

providing at least one visitation time period for visitation at the funeral home (obviously included and well known in the art);

displaying the second visual work during the visitation time period (Column 1 Lines 25 – 47; Column 2 Lines 20 – 25).
